

EFFECTS OF TRAUMA AND BUILDING RESILIENCE FOR WHĀNAU

Professional Development Days
for Social Service Providers with Ruth Beaglehole, founder of Echo Parenting & Education, Los Angeles.

Ruth Beaglehole is a New Zealander who has spent much of her life in the USA pioneering a 'nonviolent parenting' programme. Starting out with teen gang mothers in LA - with her 'success stories' now involved as tutors assisting and empowering the next generation of 'at risk' parents over there. Here is a link: www.echoparenting.org

This training is for service providers working with whānau. Ruth will be facilitating the conversation about the empowering role that empathy plays in helping whānau recover from trauma and keeping protective factors at the forefront. Come and learn techniques that will help you incorporate these core concepts into your professional practice.

Thanks to our sponsors who make this possible:

2 DAY TRAINING

Monday 29th & Tuesday 30th July, 2013.

9am-5pm @ Houchens Retreat,
83 Houchens Road, Glenview Hamilton

The training will cover:

- Te Tuakiri; the entrusted sacredness, of a child's wellbeing
- Effects of early exposure to trauma
- 6 Protective Factors for reducing child abuse, strengthening whānau/families and optimal child & youth development.

The training will help service providers to:

- Name our intention - to be in relationship with ourselves, each other and the whānau we work with from a place of connection and empathy
- Establish a relationship framework through a parallel process (ourselves and those we serve)
- Explore our role - in modelling the relationship we want whānau to know about.

If you would like to know about other workshops on offer this July & August, please email pouaroaha@gmail.com, or contact Rosie or Heleina on (07) 825 7111. There are limited places for this professional development training. Places will be allocated on a first in first served basis.
